Fly on the wall

Aaron has been wearing Gary's wet suit because of the unhygienic habits of other people using hired wet suits, although he was heard to say he'd found a novel way of warming it up himself !!!

Rich went on a shoe hunt last night or was it his own version of geohiking or perhaps just plain forgetfulness after doing paddleboarding? Fortunately Takuma was not wearing his shoes when something fell out of the fire and burnt them otherwise he would have been hotfooting it around the campsite. It's believed that Sam Cripps has been experimenting for MasterChef after being spotted making a strange concoction with potatoes (still in their skins), pepper and cream.

For some strange reason James S has been seen throwing Matt's sunglasses and hat on the fire.

Ben is known as the 'Chopping machine' for his speed in cutting up firewood. Due to constant exposure to water, the kayak Leaders are losing mental faculties. Colin forgot to take his canoe the other day and Dave forgot to unload a Kayak for himself. And their aim of Olympic standard water gymnastics is still a long way off e.g. Aaron's abortive handstand nearly drowned Ben; Gary 'cart splashed' instead of cartwheeled- but there was some successes Fran did a great handstand and Sam Jones did a fine headstand. Owls are best shooters after shooting 2 matchsticks and forcing Roger to do 40 press-ups.

Did you Know?

There are many prehistoric sites in Pembrokeshire and the probable source of the bluestones used in the construction of the inner circle of Stonehenge in England. Rocks now found in Pembrokeshire were formed more than 290 million years ago; the youngest rocks, from the Carboniferous period, contain the Pembrokeshire Coalfield. The landscape was subject to considerable change as a result of the ice ages over the last several thousand years, meltwater from which cut the river valleys seen across the county today. About 20,000 years ago the Irish Sea ice sheet deposited areas of clays.

Weather

Tomorrow's weather promises to be cloudy with early rain but drying out later. 18C

Fly on the wall (contd.)

Matt had soft spot for paddleboard instructor Gemma Swindon James rolled contents of his bag down hill whilst cycling Dan tipped a whole bowl of rice crisps over his head!!!

George was a 'ninja climber' he did a overhang and topped all the climbs.

Heather was bike assisted yesterday up hill

James B apparently suffering from gender confusion as he 'mistakenly' went in to a Ladies public loo in West Angle Bay.

Stuart fell asleep with the keys to minibus 3 in his pocket

Izzie retrieved a pair of sunglasses from kybos - any takers?

Deb took a scenic route on back lanes and surprised the mountain bikers.

Camp Leaders chat

Tents cost a lot of money, so PLEASE be sensible around ALL the tentage, Some people have been seen messing around the tents

Inspite of last night's newsletter appeal to go to bed some people were seen wandering around. It is for your own safety that we want you in bed. Please don't ignore this important rule.

Camp Facts 4

1. How many potatoes are consumed during camp week?
2. How many pints of milk are used at camp?
